Classical Civilization Major Requirements

Two required introductory courses: 283 or 284; courses must be in at least three of the following areas: literature in translation at or above the 200 level or in the original language at or above the 300 level; history; art and archaeology; philosophy. Note: CLST 283/284 may not be counted toward the seven advanced courses even if you did not take CLST 283 and 284 as your introductory sequence for the major (see below). Total 10 courses.

• Required courses:

- o Option 1: CLST 181S (or 283) and 182S (or 284)
- o Option 2: two courses in Greek or Latin below the 300 level
- o Note: the two options may not be combined (e.g., CLST 181S and Lat 102 do not satisfy the requirement).

• Seven CLST courses at or above the 200 level, not counting CLST 283/284

Courses must be in at least three of the following areas: history; art and archaeology; philosophy; literature in translation at or above the 200-level, or literature in the original language at or above the 300-level. Many courses declare in their online synopses where they fit in the distribution. If in doubt, please consult with the DUS.

Note: CLST courses include crosslisted courses originating in other departments and study-abroad transfers

Note: CLST 283/284 may not be counted toward the seven 200-and-above level courses

- Capstone Seminar (CLST 480S).
- Total: at least 10 courses
